

Becoming Ecological

Making a Home in the World

Facilitated by Hayley Marshall & Giles Barrow
at the Mill House, Suffolk 2026-2027

We are delighted to announce our new Becoming Ecological programme for anyone interested in developing a personal or professional ecological practice. Having spent the last five years in an intense development phase we are now inviting a group of participants to join us in learning our unique ecological methodology. Designed to address the crucial western question - how might we return to our truest ecological being in the world, living our biological reality, embedded in the living systems of the earth? – the programme will offer a profound and nuanced approach rooted in the contemporary western world.

This new programme takes place over a series of five modules, each leading on from the previous one to create an embodied in-depth journey using an innovative ecological methodology. We will be incorporating themes including movement, ritual and ceremony, story, identity and heritage, and activism; all of which combine to create a rich weave of both personal and professional practice.

The five workshops are all based at the 'hearth' of the programme which is the Mill House Community in east Suffolk. Each session will involve moving out to a range of different landscapes from which specific components of the methodology can be explored. Within each workshop there will be 'hearth-based' time followed by opportunities to engage in personal work in one of the nearby locations. There will be application sessions to support professional and personal practices on the second day of each workshop.

Some Practical Details

Dates and themes

9th - 11th September 2026	Module 1: Receiving
16th-18th December 2026	Module 2: Holding
10th - 12th March 2027	Module 3: Seeding
12th - 14th May 2027	Module 4: Dreaming
21st - 23rd July 2027	Module 5: Witnessing

NB: Workshops begin at 2pm on the first day and end 3pm on the last day.

Cost of the programme

£1290 pp (If required payment can be made in 5 installments).

There are a total of 14 places available.

Our venue is Mill House, Earl Soham IP13 7RP.

This is a working smallholding supporting a small intentional community and has sufficient facilities for cooking and sleeping over. Basic on-site accommodation can be provided at a small charge. Details available on application.

For further information and to book your place please visit: www.becomingecological.co.uk

And for a short Zoom conversation to discuss what's on offer, please contact:
hayley@becomingecological.co.uk